A little man walked up and down to find an eating place in town

He read the menu through and through, to see what fifteen cents could do

 |  |  |  |  |  |  |

One meat-ball, one meat-ball,

 |  |  |  |  |  |

He could afford but one meat-ball.

 |  |  |  |

He told the waiter near at hand the simple dinner he had planned.

The guests were startled, one and all, to hear that waiter loudly call,

 |  |  |  |  |  |  |

"One meat-ball, one meat-ball?"

 |  |  |  |  |  |

This here gent wants one meat-ball."

p.2. One Meatball

The little man felt ill at ease, said, "Some bread, sir, if you please."

The waiter hollered down the hall, "You get no bread with one meatball."

"One meat-ball, one meat-ball,

Well, you get no bread with one meat-ball."

The little man felt very bad, one meatball was all he had,

And in his dreams, he hears that call, "You get no bread with one meatball."

"One meat-ball (and no spa-ghetti!), one meat-ball,

Well, you get no bread with one meat-ball."
