Intro: | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |

| | | | | | | |

Give me the open road, the open road is where I'm bound

| | | | | | | |

I know where it will lead, where it will lead is sacred ground

| | | | |

No stop signs, no waiting lines, just western pines all a-round

| | | | | | | |

Give me the open road, the open road is where I'm bound

| | | | | | | |

I've seen those city streets, those city streets are not for me

| | | | | | | |

I know where they will lead, and that's no place I want to be

| | | | |

The rat race, the frantic pace, I need a place to be free

| | | | | | | |

Give me the open road, the open road is where I'm bound

p.2. The Open Road

Give me the open road, the open road is where I'm bound

I know where it will lead, where it will lead is sacred ground

No stop signs, no waiting lines, just western pines all a-round

Give me the open road, the open road is where I'm bound

Guess I've got to roam, 'cause the open road....

Will lead me ho - o - me!
