

SO LONG, STAY WELL - Rod McKuen

6/8 123456

Intro: |  |  |  | (X3)

Little boy, go ride the pale horse in the park

Count the golden butterflies, and stay out till dark

Never mind the grownups who sing their old song

So long, stay well. Love was here, now it's gone

Little boy, you're older, keep life while you can

Happy days and holidays so soon escape men

Soon you'll be a grownup, and sing your old song

    (    ) X2

So long, stay well. Love was here, now it's gone

p.2. So Long, Stay Well

Little boy, your youth and the summer is done

You've got the sunset, though you've lost the sun

Now you are a grownup, so sing your old song

So long, stay well. Love was here, now it's gone

Little boy, go ride the pale horse in the park

Count the golden butterflies, and stay out till dark

Never mind the grownups who sing their old song

Some other autumn we'll right all the wrong

So long, stay well. Love was here, now it's gone
